Indemnity, Release of Liability and Acknowledgment of Assumption of Risk

Stormwater Institute participant:

Please read, sign below, and return at SI check-in on October 14, 2008.

I understand that participating in Stormwater Institute activities is entirely voluntary. I understand that Stormwater Institute activities may involve a certain level of agility and physical activity, including climbing up and down stream banks, walking over potentially slippery streams bottoms, climbing over rocks, etc. I know and understand the risks and dangers involved in the above-named activities and I know and understand that unanticipated dangers may arise.

I hereby assume all responsibility and risk, and agree to release, and waive all claims, causes of action, judgments, and expenses, including reasonable attorneys fees and costs, in connection with injuries or damage to persons or property sustained or incurred in connection with or as a result of my participation in this event or any related activities sponsored by the Stormwater Institute, and hereby agree to indemnify and hold the event organizer, the Center for Watershed Protection, their staff, officers, directors, members, volunteers and any others acting on behalf of the Watershed Institute, harmless in connection with any and all of the foregoing.
