

The Center for Watershed Protection's professional membership program, the Association of Watershed and Stormwater Professionals (AWSPPS), is geared toward providing professionals with more focused tools to practice their trade. Members enjoy the following: two issues of the Watershed Science Bulletin, substantial publications and training discounts, and opportunities to network with other members and chime in on emerging issues.

To find out more about joining the Association of Watershed and Stormwater Professionals, visit www.awsps.org.